

Focus

on Odd Down/Kingsway

Edited by Cllr Steve Hedges 358622 Cllr Nigel Roberts 336366

Tesco's for Odd Down ?

Hayesfield School is looking to dispose of its playing fields at the back of Cranmore Place. Part of those proposals could be to sell off the land to a supermarket, probably Tesco's.

New facilities for Hayesfield

The sell off would benefit Hayesfield school as the money would be re-invested in badly needed school facilities. The current playing fields are no use to the school.

What about the traffic ?

We have over hundred houses built at the Clark's factory site, another hundred at St. Martin's, with the roads already full. Where will the traffic go ?

What about local shops ?

Would the local shops survive if Tesco's or another supermarket was built ? The Upper Bloomfield Road shops are a valuable local resource.

Our View

1. Nothing should happen until full local consultation has take place
2. A traffic survey of the area has taken place
3. A study to look at the effect on local shops has taken place.

St Martin's School

There are no proposals to close St. Martin's School. The St. Martin's land could be sold off and the school re-built on Hayesfield site.

The Future - what is happening

The council will consider changes at the Council Executive in early September and then at Full Council in November.

Cllr Steve Hedges said "Enough is enough, we took the Conservative Executive Member for highways to task last time they were here, why hasn't he done something about it ?" Cllr Nigel Roberts added "We will be pushing for the council to remove them off council land."

The Focus Team want to know - what will be the cost of the clean up operation this time ?
